STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials and base metals dipped to 1959 lows as the stock market turned down today in light morning trading.

Industrials moved ahead at the open but early gains dwindled as trading progressed. On index they were down almost 1 1/2 points to a low of 159.20. Base metals dipped almost one-half to 159.20. Western oils were off more than one-half. Golds, the lone winners, were up nearly one-quarter. Speculators did little in dull trading.

Most industrial groups were mixed and changes generally were in small fractions. Seniors were easier in base metals. Consolidated Mining was off 1/4. Uranium was mixed. Dome, up 1/4 at 18 1/2, had the major change in a quiet gold group.

Calgary and Edmonton dipped 1/2 at 21 and Pacific Pete was off 1/2 at 11 1/2 among western oils.

At Eaton's, residents of Vernon and vicinity will shop in an imposing, ultra-modern structure specifically designed to meet the demands of modern day taste requirements and afford efficient ease in your shopping enjoyment. The building, of two storeys and a basement, encompasses a total area of 45,000 square feet. It has a 144 foot frontage on Bernard Street and extends to a depth of 130 feet.

A parking lot for shoppers' cars has been conveniently located beside the store.

STURDY STRUCTURE

The store itself is of reinforced concrete. A glass front with two entrances and an overhanging marquee runs the full length of Bernard Street. This features display windows and selling areas which merge with adjacent departments and provide a facade of impressive architectural beauty.

The interior of the store is finished in pastel turquoise, green, peach and other soft tones interspersed with complementary panels of vinyl wallpaper or wood.

Modern, open-type counters with adjustable merchandise shelves, show off the stocks and provide added convenience for customers. All the store fixtures and display counters are finished with arborite in colors and designs that complement the overall decor and promise the extra appeal of lasting freshness and cleanliness.

Bright daylight illumination has been created by the installation of the latest in interior lighting. Strategically-placed spotlights highlight special store fixtures and displays.

Into the floor plan have been incorporated distinctly designed areas which are to be established as specialty shops featuring selective merchandise.

The building is completely air conditioned and beautiful modern washrooms are provided for the convenience of visitors to Eaton's.

NEW FEATURE

An added feature of the new store is the outdoor selling area located between the parking lot and the building. This has been formed by a 16 foot projecting roof inset with fibreglass panels to provide a maximum of daylight and maintain the feeling of an outdoor shop. The area is fenced in with wire mesh which sustains the 'al fresco' motif, and will be used for seasonal merchandise such as boats and motors, gardening supplies and flowers, farm and agricultural equipment. An extra entrance from the parking lot through the outdoor selling space leads into the store proper.

Floral planters grace the front of this area and the end of the parking lot.

There is a freight elevator to service store stock and two stairwells, one at each side of the building, allow customer traffic between the floors.

Wherever possible, materials used in the construction of Eaton's Vernon as well as in the store's interior and fixtures, were bought or manufactured in British Columbia.

C. B. K. Van Norman and Associates of Vancouver are the architects and Kenyon and Company Limited of Penticton, the builders. The total construction was under the direct supervision of H. G. D. Lee, Eaton's planning and construction chief in the British Columbia area.

North Trade Boards Study 97 Routing

VERNO N (Staff) — Proposed redesignation of a portion of Highway 97 east to Highway 23 will be discussed this week with the Okanagan Valley Tourist Association.

George Hegler told Vernon Board of Trade that he will take the matter up with the association. Vernon Board of Trade has expressed the opinion that Highway 97 designation should be retained in some form.

Sicamous Board of Trade is strongly against the proposed change, officials report. The section in question runs from the foot of Sandy Hill, through Grindrod and along the Mara Lake shore to Sicamous.

Highway 97, which runs from Weed, California to Dawson Creek, at the section discussed, becomes 97 west, and then joins the Trans-Canada Highway.

Sicamous trade board on behalf of the district, intends to take the matter up with the provincial minister of highway, Hon. P. A. Gagliardi.

Sicamous also will protest the rerouting of Highway One near that community.

The Mounties And The Miss; Redcoats Play Important Role

When two officers of the RCMP were detailed to accompany Miss Canada to the Atlantic City contest many newspapers indignantly wrote that this was not a suitable task for the RCMP.

Many newspapers used very strong language but the general tenor of the remarks was reflected in the following comment by an eastern paper: "The duties at Atlantic City aren't the first case of misuse of men trained for other and more serious purposes. The RCMP for many years have acted as photographic dummies at Ottawa and some border points. . . . If tourist promoters want models to dress up and serve as attractions for tourists' cameras, it might be reasonable to expect them to hire actors for the job."

Doubtless it can be argued that policemen should have more to do than accompany a young lady bent on stardom in a beauty contest. On the other hand, in the opinion of this newspaper, showing off the red tunic, riding boots and stetson of a famed uniform is not a bad thing; it is somewhat equivalent to showing the flag by naval ships in foreign ports. In the Atlantic City instance it also suggested some solicitude for the young lady herself carrying Canadian colors abroad.

As for the Mounties being used as a tourist attraction, certainly they are. And why not? We do not imagine that the personnel objects too strenuously to being detailed to this duty, which, perhaps, they find to be very pleasant. We would venture to suggest that the thing in Canada most photographed by tourists is a red-coated Mountie. Certainly in the minds of most visitors, the Mounties are Canada and it would not be the same without them. Oddly enough, in the tourists' eyes, a Mountie is not a Mountie without the ceremonial dress. The spectacular uniform impresses today's tourists just as surely as it performed the task for which it was designed, to impress the color-loving Indians.

To abandon the policy of having Mounties in dress uniform at certain strategic locations—Ottawa, our national parks, etc.—is unthinkable. Equally unthinkable would be the stopping of their use on ceremonial occasions. There are none, surely, who will deny that the presence of scarlet-coated Mounties does lend life and color to certain ceremonies. Certainly they are a tremendous asset here during regatta week and, while they have our sympathies on a hot day, we trust the tradition of the scarlet jacket will never be discontinued.

A nation such as Canada should be mature enough to loosen the meticulous strings of officialdom on occasion, especially where young ladies are concerned. Even if Miss Canada did not win the chief honors at Atlantic City one feels sure she was an eye-catcher nevertheless; and obviously the Mounties were just that, performing an important publicity role for Canada, else we would never have heard of this pleasant diversion from normal duty.

Fatal Temptation

Every so often acute and sometimes prolonged anxiety is caused by reports that unidentified boys have stolen detonators or high explosives from the site of blasting operations. Until the culprits are caught and the lethal materials recovered—often only after a fatal or mutilating explosion—these incidents cause mental anguish to parents and untold extra work for the police forces at public expense.

The frequency of such occurrences creates doubt as to the effectiveness of measures to prevent explosives coming into foolish and inexperienced hands. Theft by boys old enough to know the difference between right and wrong is not to be excused and deserves severe punishment; but that does not alter the fact that anything which goes off with a bang has a powerful attraction for youngsters. At the site of an excavation where there is evidence of blasting most of them are intelligent enough to guess that the contractor's wooden shack contains something more exciting than picks and shovels.

It looks as if the regulations governing the use of explosives need to be tightened to require blasting contractors at the end of each day's work to remove all dangerous materials from the scene of unguarded operations. That might be a nuisance to them, but it would be better than exposing mischievous small boys to what could be fatal temptation. Not to be forgotten also is the fact that failure to remove or guard explosives puts them within too easy reach of safe-breaking criminal elements.

Paragraphically Speaking

Many people are so busy at something tomorrow they're too tired to do anything today.

In many a case it is too much of a person to expect him to mind his own business, as he has neither mind nor business.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Non-Stop Buses Will Travel 85 MPH London-Birmingham

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON — Londoners, within the next month or two, will be able to travel to Birmingham on non-stop buses travelling at speeds of up to 85 miles an hour. This new bus service, for which the Midland Red Bus Company has been given a license, will start operations after the London to Birmingham motorway has been opened to the public in about a month's time.

On the regular highways throughout the country, there is a speed limit of 30 miles an hour on buses. For the new motorway, this speed limit has been removed, and the only limit to speed will be the capacity of the new fleet of buses now being made ready for the opening of the service.

SPECIAL BUSES

The Midland Red Bus Company now has a fleet of 10 supercharged, high speed buses undergoing preparation at the Edgware workshops of the firm. The company, the largest operator of privately-owned buses in the country, will have three non-stop services between London and Birmingham daily. Existing coaches, suitable because they already have disc brakes and independent rubber suspension are being modified for the service. To get their motorway speeds up to 75 to 85 miles an hour, the engines have not only been supercharged. They have been fitted with overdrive and high-ratio, three hours and 25 minutes. And this fast service will be made available to the public at exactly the same price as the present-day slow service—21 shillings and three pence for the return journey. This is 15 shillings and nine pence cheaper than the second class railway fare, and more than 10 tons, the equivalent of a full load of passengers and luggage.

At present, the ordinary bus service takes five hours and 20 minutes to do the journey. The new service will cut the time to

Asian Countries Are Kept Posted On Chinese Crisis

By RUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP)—India is reported to have advised most of the Middle East and Southeast Asian countries of the real facts behind the current hostile Red Chinese moves against India and the Himalayan states.

Heads of diplomatic missions of these countries have been requested to convey to their governments New Delhi's "deep concern" about the present situation, said the well-informed and influential newspaper Indian Express.

The paper said it was emphasized that "these diplomatic moves are not being made to seek any external assistance but just to let the countries judge for themselves the situation by assessing all the facts."

referee from abroad."

The Moscow call to India and China to settle their disputes has been described in press comments here as "patronizing" and "hypocritical."

"Nobody is driving a wedge between India and China except Peking itself," said one editorial.

Meanwhile, there is speculation about the impact of Peking's aggressive border action on the desire of certain Asian and African countries to establish mutual diplomatic relations with Red China.

There is a feeling that their eagerness may have cooled.

There also is the possibility that some Asian countries may not now be as ready to accept Chinese experts and send delegations to China as hitherto.

When India's Parliament recently held a debate on food supplies, Mahavir Tyagi, one of the top-ranking members of the ruling Congress party, asked New Delhi not to send a rice delegation to Red China.

Change Pictures Painters Advice

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Don't leave a painting hanging on your wall if you've outgrown it, or become tired of it. That's the advice of one of Canada's best-known portrait painters, Dorothy Stevens of Toronto.

"Exchange it for a new one or give it away, but do something with it," she says.

"People should buy paintings within their means, which add in cultural interest to their rooms and bring something extra into their homes," she advises.

Miss Stevens, president of the Women's Art Association of Canada, says too many people make hasty purchases of paintings.

to stimulate the imagination. We bored the students in the old days by having them shade an apple."

Personal interest in art can be developed by attending art lectures and museums, galleries or local craft centres.

"When you become faintly interested, then buy books in the line of art you like, but remember, you can't take a four-year art course in a couple of evenings."

Small communities, not blessed with galleries, can be art-conscious too.

"Art teachers can be brought to town who will give an inspirational sendoff to local artists, and travelling shows help to create a stimulus in the whole town," she says.

Miss Stevens' enthusiasm for art cooled when she talks of the rewards the artists receive. "The prices for good paintings, except those on the international market, are too cheap and are out of line with the increase in prices for other commodities," she says.

Noted Tenor Plans To Tour Canada, U.S.

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special to The Daily Courier

EDINBURGH, Scotland—Kenneth McKellar, the greatest of all present-day Scottish tenors, and a well-chosen Scottish variety unit, are on their way to Canada and the United States for an extensive tour of concerts to appeal to Scottish exiles in these two countries. This is Kenneth McKellar's second tour of Canada, and as he departed, he said he was looking forward to it immensely, although it meant leaving behind in Scotland his wife Hedy and their new baby of a few weeks, Kenneth Harry.

This season's trip covers a number of new locations, among them being Hollywood, California.

Most of the major towns and cities in Canada are included in the tour which will open in Montreal, from which point the company will go to Ottawa, and then down to New Jersey before playing for three nights in Toronto. Then it goes on to Hamilton, and from there to Winnipeg for three nights. After that come Saskatoon, Regina, Calgary, Lethbridge, and a new date for this year, Penitence, British Columbia.

Vancouver Scots will see the show on October 9 and 10, and then it goes to Chilliwack, Victoria, Cumberland and Ladysmith in British Columbia. United States dates include San Francisco, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and New York.

Most of the concerts have the organized backing of Scottish societies in the places to be visited. Included in the party, in addition to Mr. McKellar, are Alice Dale, comedy girl, a sister of the famous Scots comedian, Stanley Baxter; Johnny Beattie, popular Glasgow comedian; John Mulvane, the well-known "Pop-Eye" of Glasgow's "Five Past Eight" shows; and Betty Robson, of Dundee, a former clerkess who has been appearing with the Glyndebourne Opera Company, and on Scottish Television.

EXPERT ADVICE

"The purchaser should get good advice from top-notch artists and dealers," she recommends.

The pictures which grace the walls of her studio-living room are frequently changed. Besides those on the walls, she usually has one in creation.

"When I want to paint I must move about, burn through a sheet over the floor and paint." Light pours into the room through a high skylight.

Miss Stevens speaks with great enthusiasm of the growing consciousness of the arts in Canada. This she attributes to "increased leisure time and a complete campaign for music and art."

"It's extra leisure and not money which has brought hobbies such as art to the fore. People who have always wanted to paint now have the time," she says.

IMPROVED CLASSES

As art teacher herself, Miss Stevens says art classes have improved greatly during the past few years.

Major Air Battle Looms In England

By BERNARD GAVNER

LONDON (AP)—Britain is geared for an air battle in which there won't be any fighters or planes dropping bombs.

Three little words—cheap air fares—may cause the explosion. While they may sound like music to the prospective traveler, these three little words are expected to produce a big blast at the forthcoming International Air Transport Association (IATA) meeting in Hong Kong.

IATA, the world association of airlines which sets fares, is against the cheap-fare move. But the British airlines, strongly supported by the government and backed up by Britain's biggest plane producer, are set to cut fares anyway and walk out of IATA if necessary.

Behind the battle is a convention that all the world's airlines are basically competing for the business of the same traveler. To make profits, airlines have to go after new travellers—particularly the man who now goes by car, bus or train.

STRONG CHAMPION

This notion has its strongest champion in a man of 51 who likes to pass himself off as "an ordinary plumber."

While his plumbing ability has not been attested to, Sir George Edwards figures that in this air fare battle he can afford to move around like the only man with a wrench in a room full of leaky faucets.

"IATA does approve the fare reduction plan," he says, not unhappily, "the truth is that many airlines will be in a fix."

This is because most airlines fear they can't economically cut fares with existing equipment, he says.

This does not depress Edwards, since he does not operate planes. As managing director of Vickers-Armstrong (Aircraft) Ltd., he makes and sells them.

"We happen to have the plane that can do the job of bringing in the new era of cheap air fares for the passenger and good profits for the operators," he says. "It is the turbo-prop Vanguard."

DOUBLE BUBBLE

The Vanguard, powered by four Rolls Royce type engines and with a wing span of 118 feet and a 122 foot fuselage, has what Edwards calls double-bubble flexibility. It can carry a total payload of 29,000 pounds in freight and passengers.

Maximum number of passengers it can carry is 39. The passengers ride in a cabin—the top side of the double-bubble—separated from the freight holds below by a deck that runs the length of the plane. Nearly seven tons of cargo can be carried, depending on the passenger load. There are no cargo doors in the fuselage and commercial service is to begin in 1960.

The fare fight and the appearance of the Vanguard did not occur at the same time through coincidence. Explains Edwards: "It was becoming obvious, at least to us, that in the United States as well as in Europe, the airlines were competing for the business of the same traveller. American figures show that only 4½ per cent of the American public travels by air, and that nearly 90 per cent of these people are either expense-account people or the reasonably well-to-do."

It also became obvious that "to keep growing the airline simply would have to go after the chap with the sparrer in his hand—the man who has to dig into his own pocket and pay his own way, and now does it by auto or by bus."

TOOK 60 DESIGNS

Vickers set about designing a plane that could do the job and assure profits. Work began in 1953 and 60 planes were designed before the Vanguard emerged.

"We concentrated on a plane that operates profitably at short or medium hauls—jobs that jet planes can't do now at economy rates—because despite all the publicity about transatlantic and transatlantic flights, it turns out the average length of an air trip is 570 miles."

By being able to shift its payload making according to needs—more freight when the number of passengers is low, such as during night flights—it is possible for an airline to use the Vanguard and charge less than bus fares, says Edwards.

"There's no argument against first-class service," says Edwards, but "we think there should be economy fares all over."

This is essentially the attitude of the British government. It was made a matter of policy by Aviation Minister Harold Wilson, who recently told the House of Commons that Britain would go to the IATA conference and demand approval of fare cuts. And if it didn't give approval, he implied, Britain would go it alone.

Shanghai Will Show Another Output Boost

By RONALD FARQUHAR

SHANGHAI (Reuters)—Shanghai's economic planners say that China's largest city is well on the way to another big increase in industrial production this year.

But they have scaled down their overall target figure since earlier this year.

Last February, the city's mayor, Ko Ching-shih, a high-ranking Chinese Communist party leader, said the value of Shanghai's industrial output would rise 55 per cent above that of 1958.

Now, officials say, the increase is estimated to be between 40 and 45 per cent.

Observers here said the reduction from the earlier figure seemed in harmony with the present cautious tenor of official Chinese statements on this year's economic prospects for the country as a whole.

BUOYANT ENTHUSIASM

These contrast with buoyant enthusiasm at the beginning of the year after China announced that it had doubled steel, coal, grain and cotton output in 1958.

Development of heavy industry continues to have a priority role. Chinese Communist authorities say this was neglected in the past when the city was dominated by Western "imperialists" with textiles its main product and what little heavy industry existed being owned mainly by foreigners.

The aim now is to concentrate on producing high-class industrial goods requiring skilled workmanship, precision engineering equipment, heavy duty machinery and pioneering new projects.

Heavy forgings, steel rolling mills, mining machinery, coal-dressing equipment, oil refining plants, automobile parts and farm tractors are among the most important products, according to planners.

ANOTHER PREDICTION

They predict that the city's industries will reach their targets for the year without adding to their labor force, officially reported to have grown to 1,187,000 last year.

Since 1949, about 1,000,000 people have found work last year more than 360,000 included some housewives have had not previously worked, started new jobs, officials say.

BUDAPEST WILL TWINKLE WITH NEON SIGNS

By HENDERSON GALL

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—Neon signs will twinkle above the streets of ancient Budapest in future if the city's planners plan to present plans to "westernize" the city's appearance.

In an effort to make the Hungarian capital brighter and more attractive to tourists as well as its citizens, the present scanty and somewhat dreary night life will be spruced up with a little glimmer.

The plans were discussed in a recent issue of the newspaper Magyar Nemzet by the director of a Budapest neon-sign factory, Ferenc Zsely.

The main night club of the city, the Budapest, will be refurbished and will revert to its original, pre-war name of Moulin Rouge. The decor will be in Toulouse-Lautrec style, and an eight-foot neon windmill with revolving sails will be erected above the doorway.

GLOOMY SPOT

At present, the club is a gloomy spot, its tarnished gilt and marble only dimly recalling the days when Budapest was one of the gayest capitals in Europe. In those days, the city with its big hotels and cosmopolitan flavor was one of the favored holiday spots of Britain's then Prince of Wales, later King Edward VIII, and other notables.

Just across the street from the Moulin Rouge stands a one-celebrant house that used to be the top night spot in Budapest—the Arizona. This will be reopened at some unspecified date in the future. The former owner, a versatile lady popularly known as Miss Arizona, was one of the best-known characters in Budapest in her day.

CLOSED AFTER WAR

The Arizona was closed down after the end of the Second World War and now is headquarters of the Hungarian Automobile Club.

Architect L. G. Dirassar, of Vancouver, has designed this three-bedroom bungalow with a "living wing" featuring spacious windows overlooking the back garden to provide an abundance of natural light as well as privacy. The L-shaped plan also ensures good separation of the living and sleeping areas.

There is ample cupboard and shelf space in the compact kitchen, which has ready access to both the dining area of the living room and the family room. Provision has been made for the installation of a washer and a dryer at one end of the family room. The basement extends only under the living area of the house; the ground beneath the bedroom wing is unexcavated.

Total floor area is 1,241 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 35 feet, four inches, by 45 feet, four inches. Working drawings for this house, known as design 276, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

BLISTERING PAINT

QUESTION: Our white asbestos shingles on the house have blistered since they were painted, although we used a recommended paint. What is the cause? What paint do you recommend?

ANSWER: Blistering may be due to the paint having been applied too soon after rain (while the surface was still damp), or when mist was in the air. Blistering is caused by moisture working through the paint to the outer surface. Any good quality outside house paint can be used for asbestos shingles first, they should be given a soaking coat of boiled linseed oil in cold weather thin with one-quarter as much turpentine) allowed to dry before applying the paint.

LEAKY WINDOW FRAMES

QUESTION: I live in an old rooming house and the ancient wooden window frames now have cracks which let in cold air. The landlord refuses to do anything about it. As I am on a strict budget, I would appreciate knowing of an inexpensive repair.

ANSWER: Very inexpensive

weatherstripping is widely available in hardware stores, consisting of wood strips with foam or felt, which can be tacked over cracks. Rolls of felt strips are also available. The cheapest method of all is to stuff cracks with home-made papier mache. Simply shred a great deal of newspaper in hot, soapy water with a little glue added. When the paper becomes mushy, squeeze out small handful and work it well into cracks, using a thin-bladed screw driver. When dry, it becomes very hard. Can even be painted later on.

DARKENED ALUMINUM PAN

QUESTION: The inside of a large aluminum pan has become quite dark. Scouring with steel wool doesn't seem to brighten it. Is there any way to remove this discoloration?

ANSWER: Fill the pan with vinegar to just above the discolored area, warm the liquid and allow to stand for several hours. Then scour with steel wool soap pads, rinsing well afterwards with hot water. Stewing tomatoes in the pan is also often effective in bringing back the original color.

MUSTY CHEST

QUESTION: A small old chest has a very musty odor. How can we get rid of the odor?

ANSWER: Air the drawers and frame in the sun for about a week if possible, washing all interior surfaces first with a liquid mildew preparation available at some hardware dealers or at boat supplies stores. Then apply a couple of coats of pure fresh shellac, thinned half - and - half with denatured alcohol, to all surfaces.

YELLOWED TILE CEMENT

QUESTION: The cement between the ceramic tiles in my bathroom has become yellow, in spite of weekly washing with mild soap. What could I do to whiten it again, besides using scouring powder?

ANSWER: Try washing with a household bleach, rinsing well afterwards with clear water. If this does not work, then you will have to rake out the cement with a sharply pointed screw driver or beer can opener. Brush out all loose powder. Wet the inside surfaces and fill with a special cementing preparation, available at hardware stores, or white portland cement mixed with just enough water to form a thick cream. Wipe off all cement smeared from the surface of the tile with a damp cloth immediately.

CLEANING FRAME

QUESTION: How can a gilt-covered picture frame be cleaned? I don't like to take all the old gilt paint off in an old frame with raised figures and I had in mind using a soft toothbrush and a cleaning medium, but I don't know which cleaner to use.

ANSWER: Even a soft toothbrush isn't soft enough: gilt picture frames are quite delicate and should be rubbed very gently; an artist's camel's hair brush should be used. Clean with a half-and-half mixture of alcohol and ammonia, applied with the brush. Allow to remain a few minutes to soften the grime. Then remove with clear water, also applied with a soft brush. Do not wipe dry; shake off any drops of water and stand frame on edge to dry naturally.

RUST STAIN ON MARBLE

QUESTION: We have a pink marble table. In watering a plant, it ran over under a lamp base, leaving a ring of rust. I've used cleanser and tried to remove the ring, but it still shows badly. Do you have a suggestion?

ANSWER: Some housewares stores now have available a special cleaner for this purpose, follow label directions carefully. Or make a paste of powdered whiting and a nonflammable liquid spot remover; cover ring with thick layer of paste, and top with sheet of glass or plastic to retard evaporation. When the paste is dry, brush off and replace with fresh; repeat treatment until ring disappears.

European Trading Blocks Shaping Up As Major Topic For Conference

By DAVE OANCA

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The impact of new European trading blocs is shaping up as a major topic for the two-day meeting of Commonwealth trade and finance ministers starting next Tuesday.

Government spokesmen here, inhibited by the general election campaign now in progress, have confirmed cautiously that ministers will study closely the moves toward closer economic associations in Europe.

The meeting is the first at the ministerial level of the Commonwealth economic consultative council set up by the Montreal conference one year ago to coordinate financial and economic discussions.

TWO CANADIANS

Canada will be represented by Finance Minister Fleming and Trade Minister Churchill, both of whom attended the Montreal conference.

Churchill now is on a tour through European countries. The chief object of his pre-meeting trip was to study the arrangements worked out among European Common Market countries and the "Outer Seven" trading area.

The Common Market, already in operation, takes in Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The Outer Seven, planned to include Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Austria, Portugal and Switzerland, is being formed as a trading answer to the common market.

The aim of both blocs is to reduce gradually tariff barriers among member countries.

MAY CUT INTO MARKETS

A number of Commonwealth countries, including Canada, fear the new trading arrangements may cut into traditional markets for their products.

Expectations are the ministerial meeting will provide some indication of how far the bigger Commonwealth countries have moved toward wanting a direct deal with the Common Market.

Doctor Revives Young Girl Hypnotized By Two Amateurs

SYDNEY (CP)—An Australian girl who allowed herself to be hypnotized by an amateur "for fun" at a meeting of a church club went into such a deep hypnotic coma that she had to be taken to hospital for treatment before she regained consciousness.

Patricia Alice Brown, 17, failed to respond to revival efforts by two amateur hypnotists who worked on her for two hours at the hospital under the supervision of a resident doctor. Eventually, the doctor administered shock treatment to awaken the girl.

Another girl, Betty Hampton, 17, said it had been agreed it would be a "good idea" to have an exhibition by the hypnotists who were friends of one of the club members.

She said Patricia was "put under" about 11 p. m. She went stiff, kept falling off the chair and became cold and clammy before she was taken to hospital. Patricia said she thought the hypnotists might be able to cure a habit she had of biting her nails but she was still biting them.

Far Northern Oil Drillings To Take Place Next Year

By ARCH MacKENZIE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The most northerly oil drilling in the world may take place next summer in Canada's Arctic islands within 600 miles of the pole.

Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said in an interview a company he declined to identify is pondering whether to move its drilling rig by air or sea to Cornwallis Island, about 1,700 miles north of Winnipeg. This was much faster development progress than had been anticipated for the Far North.

Cornwallis Island is the site of Resolute Bay, supply distribution centre for the central archipelago with a permanent weather station and the most northerly RCAF base in the country. Seams of coal up to five feet thick are among favorable geological features of the island.

ENDS ARCTIC TOUR

The minister also announced, following his return from a tour through western Arctic points, that steps are planned to facilitate northern communications and weather information for the benefit of oil and natural gas exploration.

The oil companies seem to be interested in a government offer to split costs 50-50 on air strips in the North, he said.

"Development is moving faster than we can keep track of it," Mr. Hamilton said after a swing through the western territories and the Yukon where numerous oil crews are at work.

Last month, Western Minerals Limited crossing in a Yukon well 40 miles from the Arctic Circle, most northerly find so far in Canada. Bad weather denied him access to the well itself, Mr. Hamilton said, although he made several attempts by air.

NEED MORE HELP

But he had seen enough to know that expanded communications and weather information service are required to facilitate the oil industry's efforts.

He made only a brief reference to the projected drilling plans for Cornwallis Island, which lies in the zone where an intensive rush for exploration permits centred earlier this year. Applications have stabilized at 95,000 acres with none granted yet although one - year permits have been handed out to some firms.

Mr. Hamilton said that he has ordered bulldozers to jump ahead on the oil access road being driven 200 miles from Flat Creek in the Yukon, just below Dawson City, northeast to Eagle Plains plateau near where the latest oil discovery was made.

B.C. Favors Western Route For Northwestern Railway

EDMONTON (CP)—British Columbia favors a western route in construction of a proposed railway linking northern Alberta and the Great Slave Lake area in the Northwest Territories.

In a brief presented by Trade and Commerce Minister Robert Bonner to the Manning Royal commission here, B.C. said it favored the western route over two others so that "the potential offered by the extensive developmental possibilities of the Peace River region may be fully realized."

The 36-page brief said an eastern route would provide little opportunity for community growth and economic development along the right of way and less railway traffic would be generated than along a western route.

The proposed western route should start at Grimshaw, Alta., in the heart of the Peace River district, follow the Peace River north, turning slightly east near Watt Mountain and ending at Pine Point, a small mining community on the south shore of dairy was closed today by the board of public utility commissioners for selling milk to consumers below the minimum price set by the board.

Dairy Closed Because It Sold Milk Below The Minimum Price

The padlock order, served by Sheriff Gordon Butterwick, prevents Purity Dairies from selling milk in Calgary until next Thursday when the case will be heard in court.

The action came after Purity, participating in a price war, lowered the price of its homogenized milk in stores by five cents a quart.

A two-quarter container of Purity milk sold for 29 cents Friday, the public utility board said.

CCF Leader Urges Action To Halt Rising Interest

PORT ELGIN, Ont. (CP)—CCF House Leader Hazen Argue has called for "bold action" to halt rising interest rates.

"The current tight money policy now is making bank loans for the small borrower more difficult and is forcing more and more people into the clutches of the finance companies and loan sharks," he told a meeting here of the United Automobile Workers of America (UAW) district council.

Mr. Argue said present high interest rates on Canadian investments are attracting a large inflow of foreign capital, mainly from the United States. This would create future problems of repayment. "American domination of the Canadian economy is growing at an alarming rate,"

ANSWER: ADVERTISING. In a survey by Northwestern University among housewives, 92 per cent said they wanted newspapers with advertising. By comparison, 61 per cent said they would prefer television without advertising. This receptive attitude toward the daily newspaper is one of the greatest assets that an advertiser could ever want. And it is one of the big reasons why advertisers place more money in the daily newspaper than in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined!

Proper Exercises Aid In Promoting Fitness

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.
Exercise is good for you—for most of you, at any rate—if you use a little common sense.

As I have pointed out repeatedly, exercise won't help you lose much weight. However, it is an extremely important factor in contributing to total fitness.

PRESERVES FITNESS
Proper exercise helps you maintain strength, agility, speed, skill and endurance.

Naturally, any exercise program should be undertaken only with your doctor's approval. A complete physical examination is a prerequisite to any program of vigorous exercise.

When I talk about exercise, I don't mean to limit it to specially prescribed exercises. Exercise also includes active games and sports and certain rather vigorous hobbies such as gardening and other work around the home.

Swimming, of course, is a form of exercise but so is dancing.

GRADE YOUR EXERCISE
All forms of exercise should be graded according to age, the state of an individual's fitness and his reaction to activity.

If you are past the age of 40, you can't expect to perform with the same vigor as someone in his 20's. Through childhood and adolescence, muscular strength increases.

For most of us it reaches a maximum in early adulthood. Women generally develop full muscular strength at a much earlier age than men do.

This strength begins a gradual decline for most persons when they reach their 30's or 40's. About the same time that circulatory system and the heart also begin to lose some of their functional capacity and some of their ability to recover after exercise.

Persons who have exercised throughout their earlier life and continue to do so after they have reached the peak of muscular development are likely to retain their capacities longer than persons who have not exercised much.

TIPS ABOUT SPORTS
Unless you have maintained a systematic exercise or training schedule at least for several years, I don't recommend hard, fast, sustained or highly competitive games or sports for you of your past the age of 30.

In a subsequent column I'll give you some tips on when to exercise and when to stop exercising.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. V. R. W. What can I do for mental tension headache?

Answer: Tension headaches are caused by a tense, anxious emotional situation. If your personal and business problems can be adjusted so as to avoid the tensions that beset you, you may be relieved. Adequate rest and relaxation is important.

Certain medicines help; your doctor can guide you into proper mental attitudes.

Opening lead—four of spades.
One of the really great false-cards of all time occurred in a home game played in New York a couple of years back. The protagonist was a man named Sidney Sateinstein, an enthusiastic rubber bridge player nationally unknown.

Victim of the falsecard was John Rau (South) who long ago made his mark in the bridge hall of fame. Rau ducked the spade lead, losing to the king, and had to play the queen and ace on the spade return.

He could count seven tricks—four hearts and three aces. Barring a miracle, the fate of the hand seemed to rest on finding East with the king of diamonds.

If Sateinstein had it, nine tricks could be made by taking two diamond finesses.

But Rau has been around for a long time and wasn't content to settle for just the 50 per cent chance that the finesse would succeed. He saw it was possible to increase his chances by testing the club situation first.

So at trick three Rau led a low club from dummy, whereupon Sateinstein smoothly played the king!

Rau took the ace and, after congratulating himself for his sagacity in having tried the club suit first, led the nine of clubs and finessed. It never occurred to him that Sateinstein might have started with the K-J. He naturally thought that West had J-8-2 originally and that East had the lone king.

Sateinstein swooped on the trick like a bird of prey and fired back a spade. The defense collected three more spade tricks and a club, losing four spades and a club.

It was the kind of hand where the victim rejoices with the victor, and to this day Rau takes pleasure in recounting the giant hoax perpetrated upon him.

Had Sateinstein made the normal play of the jack instead of the king, Rau would have been forced to take two diamond finesses and would have made four notrump.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW
This day's influences encourage written matters and communications generally. It's also a good period in which to hold conferences, amiable discussions of plans relative to the future. Don't regard all decisions as final, however. Later revisions could lend improvement.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your chart presages a pleasant outlook for the next year. While occupational and financial matters may be at something of a standstill now, there is indication of exceptional achievement during the period between December and mid-1960; only of course, if you take advantage of all available opportunities and back up your talents with realism and energy. Do avoid extran-gance, too, since enduring gains will depend upon conservatism and a down-to-earth program.

Personal matters will be underbeneficent aspects during most of the year, which augurs well for social, sentimental and domestic interests. Travel will be governed by exceptionally generous influences between May and August, and December of this year should prove excellent for romance and marriage; also May and June of next.

A child born on this day will be endowed with marked inventiveness and resourcefulness, but may be too susceptible to flattery.

Chrysler's New Low-Price Car Makes Debut

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Chrysler Corporation's bid for a share of the economy car market in the United States will be made with a highly styled car heavier than any of its three big competitors.

The Valiant, shown to a pre-view audience for the first time, is reported to be about 300 pounds heavier than either the Chevrolet Corvair or the Ford Falcon.

It will come with power brakes and power steering as "optional" equipment, neither of which are offered by the other two new cars. Luggage space also is other extras.

larger than either of the other two, due in part to installation of the fuel tank at one side along the fender well.

Chrysler insists that the Valiant will be priced competitively with the Falcon and Corvair. Falcon prices have not been announced, but the Corvair figures start at $1,810 before taxes and numerous other extras.

CHANGES LANGUAGE
WALSALL, England (Reuters) — Newspaper reporter Lesley Oakley, 18, was knocked unconscious in a car accident shortly after interviewing visiting French students in their language. When she regained consciousness after several weeks in a hospital, the girl talked only in French instead of her native English. She is under treatment.

PREMATURE? — OR CERTAIN? — Kamloops Okies knocked Oliver out of the OMBL cup race Sunday in two straight (see story below) and now the Hub City will have to meet Kelowna's Labs. Pictured at left above, Coach Hank Tostenson and Lab executive Fred Russell hold the handsome trophy which Labs won in 1957 and 1958. Are their victory grins premature or certain? Pictured right above is former Kelowna player Bill Martino, who couldn't do it yesterday against Okies (he now plays for OBCs) either on the mound or at bat.

Gatin, Fowles Brothers Spark Hub To Finals

By NORMAN GOTRO
Daily Courier Staff Writer

OLIVER — A leather-armed smoke eater from the Hub broke the OBC home-win record here Sunday.

And a family connection certified with lumber and glove that Okie Gatin's 3-2 and 6-1 OMBL semi-final doubleheader triumphs over the south were correct.

It took all of the fantastic competitive baseball ability of coach-chucker Len Gatin and Len and Jack Fowles to win the final playoff berth against Oliver. But they did—against all the bookies, bettors and experts. And they hammered out their upsetting victory in five hours on the field where nobody else could win this season.

There, in a nutshell, you have the tale of the bouncing ball yesterday.

Now, once again, the Okonots will face their favorite long-time rival, Kelowna Labs, in the three-game, best-two series for the handsome trophy emblematic of final OMBL championship.

Oliver won the league pennant earlier with 19 wins in 24 games. Last year Okies took the pennant but dropped the cup to Kelowna, who have held it for two years and are looking for a third championship.

BROTHERS IMPRESSIVE

The summary after 18 innings showed Jack Fowles with an impressive record as left fielder and part-time pitcher. He batted .666 per cent (six for nine); he scored three runs; he put out two; he assisted three putouts. In addition, Johnnie Fowles hurled for four innings, allowing only two singletons hits to 16 batters and no runs, fanning two and walking only two.

His brother chalked up another impressive report: Len Fowles, playing short, hit .333 per cent, scoring three more runs; he put out five, assisted seven putouts, made only one error.

Meanwhile Leuther Arm Gatin hurled 14 innings, won both games, allowed only four runs, of which only one was earned. Gatin fanned eight, walked 10. He assisted in four putouts, one in a double play. And he gave up only 10 hits (all singles) to a total of 48 batters.

And—as though these three records weren't enough—Kamloops Okonots, in the second game, gave the 600 southern fans an exhibition of teamwork and team spirit seldom seen on an OMBL diamond.

Gatin's men, having equalized the semi-final series one-all, were called up to back up what appeared to be a "desperate" situation—fired Gatin and Jack Fowles pitching. The rival jokers of the crowd attested to the scorn and fondle for "the cowboy" on the mound.

BRONCS CORALLED

But cowboys have a way of riding a bucking bronc—especially during roundup. Fowles held the fruit-pickers, until the man with the leather arm (got his second wind in the fifth. He held them to weak popups and short grounders and a spirited crew behind him kept the herd coralled until their long-armed, long-legged colleague gave up with a sore arm.

Then top-kick Gatin returned. And the cowboys again, with keen team work, successfully curbed two, near-stampedes, in the sixth and seventh frames. They came out of it on top of a 6-1 score and with the right to meet Labs for the cup.

On the other side of the score sheet, Oliver's Driessen gave a good account of himself, but not good enough. And Martino fared less well. Each was charged with a loss.

The Yankee from Wenatchee lost the first on three runs (two earned), through six hits. His teammates slipped up twice with errors and actually lost the game on base-running.

Driessen pitched to 52 batters, of whom 50 were charged with times at bat. He gave up nine hits, one a two-RBI double to Buchanan in the sixth frame of the second game. He allowed only one walk, threw one wild pitch. Driessen hit three for seven, got an RBI in the first game, sacrificed once, struck out only once, walked once, gained first base five times and third base once.

Martino, one-time heavy hitter, got two single hits in eight times at bat, scored twice, walked once, fanned once. One of his failures was unearned.

On the mound, in the second game, Martino hit three for seven times, once for a two-RBI double by Jack Fowles. He walked two. Two infield errors accounted for the fourth tally.

Dodgers High Today After Weekend Tilts

By JACK HAND

Los Angeles has wrested the National League lead from San Francisco Giants but Milwaukee is breathing down the Dodgers' necks only a game back.

Warren Giles, the National League president, might as well start flipping coins and drawing plans for a playoff. If this race doesn't wind up in a two-way or even three-way deadlock, he will be a lucky man.

Sunday's 8-2 Los Angeles victory knocked the Giants from a first-place tie into third place, a full game behind. Both the Dodgers and Giants have five games to play, all on the road.

They will switch opponents for three final games next weekend.

AIM FOR TOP

Meanwhile Milwaukee Braves, Sunday's 5-3 winners over Philadelphia, have six to go. They can tie the idle Dodgers tonight if they can beat Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers completed a three-game sweep over the Giants in the final series to be played at Seals Stadium. If the Giants come back to win the pennant, they expect to play the series in their new stadium.

Pittsburgh clinched fourth place Sunday when Vera Law won his 18th, a 10-1 romp over Cincinnati. Dick Stuart led the Pirates with four singles.

St. Louis came from behind with an extra base barrage to whip Chicago 11-4.

The Giants two-game lead melted Saturday when the Dodgers took a day-night doubleheader ers took a day-night doubleheader bounce into a game-ending double play.

Mickey Vernon sparked a Milwaukee ninth-inning rally that beat the Phillies. The Braves saw a 5-3 lead disappear when Carl Sawatski hit a two-run homer in the eighth. Vernon's single drove in the first Brave run in the ninth and the second scored when Harry Anderson tumbled the ball. Bobby Ayala knocked in the third run off Robin Roberts with a single.

Hank Aaron's 39th homer in the first and Eddie Mathews' 41st with a man on in the third helped build up a 4-0 lead for Lew Burdette. The Braves' 21-game winner was knocked out in the sixth and Joey Jay held off the Phils until the ninth for his sixth victory.

last five games and Chicago loses its four. Would Lane let Gordon manage in the world series? Or would Gordon be entitled to fire Lane?

Of course, that's all hypothetical. With a 3 1/2-game lead, all Chicago has to do is win one more and they can do no worse than tie. Any combination of two White Sox victories or Cleveland defeats and it would be all over.

FAVORS CLEVELAND

However, the schedule runs in favor of the Indians the rest of the way with all their games at home while the Sox are on the road. Coming up Tuesday night is the big one with Chicago at Cleveland in the final meeting of the year. After that single game, Cleveland entertains Kansas City in four weekend games while Chicago plays three at Detroit.

Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline of Detroit delayed Chicago's efforts to clinch at least a tie Sunday. Each hit a home run in the "Tigers" 5-4 victory behind Don Mossi. Sherm Lollar homered for the Sox.

Cleveland squeezed past Kansas City 4-3 with the help of homers by Minnie Minoso and Tito Francona. Actually, Woody Held's single drove in Rocky Colavito with the winning run in the eighth.

TOP PITCHING

Camilo Pascual pitched his sixth shutout and 17th complete game, both tops in the American League, as last-place Washington romped over Baltimore 5-0. Rookie Dan Dobek hit his first big league homer off loser Billy O'Dell in the first.

Elston Howard's two-run pinch homer was the big blow in New York's 7-4 decision over the Boston Red Sox, who beat them in the season series for the first time since 1948. The Red Sox had a 13-9 edge in the year's competition with the Yanks.

In Saturday's action, Detroit edged Chicago 5-4 in Chicago while Cleveland swamped Kansas City 13-7. New York downed Boston 3-1 in New York and Baltimore defeated Washington 5-3.

Russian Ice Team Here? Possibly, States BCAHA

VERNON (CP) — A six-game exhibition series with Japan's Olympic hockey team was announced Sunday by Leo Atwell, president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association.

Atwell said here Sunday at the association's annual meeting the BCAHA was also attempting to arrange a three-game series in B.C. by Russia's Olympic team.

The Japanese team will open its series at Victoria Jan. 4 and meet only intermediate squads. If completed, the Russian series would be against senior team with one game played in the Kootenays, a second in the Okanagan and the third on the coast.

Atwell said the Japanese team would play at New Westminster, Jan. 6; Nanaimo, Jan. 7; Chilliwack, Jan. 9; Powell River, Jan. 11; Kamloops, Jan. 13; Kelowna, Jan. 14 and Trail, Jan. 16.

The original team then travels to Calgary for a game before continuing to Squaw Valley, Calif., and the winter Olympics.

Atwell said the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association now is negotiating with the Russians for a nine-game tour of Canada prior to the winter Olympics.

The series would include games at Montreal, Toronto, Kitchener, Ont., Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and three B.C. sites.

B.C. sites would not be selected until the CAHA successfully concluded negotiations with Russia.

There was only one surprise in elections at Sunday's final session.

Ivan Temple of Victoria was elected first vice-president, defeating Dr. Mel Butler of Kelowna, a former BCAHA president and first vice-president last year.

Temple now becomes first choice for the president's chair next fall when Atwell completes his two-year term of office.

Other elections included: Bill McCullough, Penticton, second vice-president; Jim Anderson, Trail, secretary-treasurer and district representatives J. J. Cronie, Trail, for the Kootenays; Dr. Butler for the Okanagan; Herb House, New Westminster, for the Lower Mainland; Dr. Leo Margolis, Nanaimo for the Island and Fraser, Kamloops for the northern mainland.

The 1960 convention will be held at Penticton during the third week of September.

Secretary-Treasurer Jimmy Anderson, who also presented his report during the second-day session of the 40th annual meeting, said the association had a $235 deficit in 1958-59 operations.

The two-per-cent assessment on senior clubs reflected a distinct falling off in attendance during the season, he said.

The 60 delegates were entertained at a dinner Saturday night by Vernon city council, arena commission and board of trade.

Dr. Mel Butler, first vice-president of the association, spoke of the recent Kelowna Packers European tour.

Joe Gordon In Series? Fans Hardly Think So

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

The magic number in the American League still is two for the fading Chicago White Sox, with Cleveland still alive and breathing.

Joe Gordon, who has said he won't return next year as manager of the Indians, is playing out the string. General manager Frank Lane says he stays until the club is eliminated mathematically. Since he said that, the Indians have won three straight.

Just suppose Cleveland wins its

Hockey Tours Self Support Need: BCAHA

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association executive ruled during the weekend that future European tours by Canadian teams must be self-supporting.

"The time is past when we must subsidize European hockey," said association president Gordon Jukes after a meeting here. "In future these tours must be self-supporting or there won't be any."

"Hockey is now big business in Europe and there is no reason why some small Canadian community should have to raise special funds to subsidize promoters in Europe who are making a killing out of Canadian visits."

Jukes said Kelowna Packers, touring Russia and northern Europe last year, had to pay out $10,000.

"They drew 37,000 in three games in Sweden," he said. "In Russia they averaged 14,000 for five games."

COLE TRIED HARD BUT TO NO AVAIL

The Blue Caps won the inter-city softball championship for 1959 in a doubleheader Sunday — no thanks to Bob Cole.

The young chucker hurled all but 1 1/2 innings in both games, dropping the opener 17-8, and dropping the final 18-4.

Al Hornung was the winning hurler for the victorious Blue Caps in the second game.

The twin bill wound up amateur action locally for the season, with league officials stating both the "Caps and Saints" "deserve a lot of praise."

Lions Up There For First Time

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Columbia Lions, residents of the Western Interprovincial Football Union's lower regions since they entered in 1954, today see in for the first place.

Coach Wayne Robinson's Lions 17-6 Saturday night at Vancouver. The win gave British Columbia the same record as the Canadian champions. Both Lions and Winnipeg now have six wins and three losses.

British Columbia could go into first place all alone tonight if they beat the Eskimos at Edmonton and Stampeders defeat Bombers at Calgary.

Bellies Back In Series At Toronto Boxla Finals

TORONTO (CP) — New Westminster Salmonbellies, scoring three quick goals while a Brampton Excelsior player sat out a five-minute penalty, got back into the Canadian junior lacrosse finals Saturday night with an 8-7 win over the eastern champions.

The victory cut Brampton's lead in the best-of-seven Minto Cup series to 2-1. The fourth and fifth games move back to nearby Brampton tonight and Wednesday night, where Excelsior won the first two games.

The weekend contest was played at nearby Dixie because of a fall fair at Brampton.

The Salmonbellies, Western Canada champions, wiped out a 4-2 deficit early in the third quarter. They scored four successive goals, the last three while Brampton's Gerry Aherne was off for a five-minute penalty called when he crosschecked Dave Torg.

EAST JUMPS BACK

Salmonbellies pressed their attack when Bob Davidson, a replacement for Excelsior, went off for a two-minute penalty. But Brampton managed to catch the New Westminster defence and broke away for three quick goals.

Stan Stewardson and Tom Wyatt scored for New Westminster in the final minute of the third period. Wyatt's goal stood up for the victory as neither squad scored in the last 15-minute quarter.

Tory and Billy Wilkes paced Salmonbellies with two goals each. Singles went to Mike Gates and Keith Jackson.

Bert Naylor and Bob Ronald each scored twice for Brampton the others going to Davidson, Wayne Thompson and Don Arthur.

Brampton is seeking its third straight Canadian championship.

Wright, Jones Cups Return To Kelowna

The Jones Cup and the Wright Cup, emblematic of Okanagan lawn bowling supremacy returned to Kelowna Sunday for the first time since 1958.

Four teams from here traveled to Penticton for the second series over the weekend to reclaim the silverware from the Peach City.

The Penticton ladies, who hosted the Wright Cup champions served refreshments for the visiting Kelowna bowlers after the deciding ends.

The cup-playoffs wind up all "serious" lawn bowling activities for the season.
